DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of the invention of Group III, claims 7-11, in the reply filed on June 13, 2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the examiner would not be required to perform undue work examining the other inventions. This is not found persuasive because as outlined in the restriction requirement, the search for the other groups is not required for this invention.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 9 recites the limitation "the central opening" in 4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3726

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 7-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by O'Brien (US Patent 4,890,693).

O'Brien discloses a method of assembling a knock-down stand at a work site where the stand is displayed, disassembling the stand and storing the components, see column 2, lines 37-38, 55-59 and 63-65. Applicant should note that the different parts of the stand lend no patentable weight to the method being claimed. Furthermore it is conventional to provide step-by-step instructions for the assembly and the disassembly of the different parts of knockdown articles.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 7-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over O'Brien.

O'Brien discloses a method of assembling a knock-down stand at a work site where the stand is displayed, disassembling the stand and storing the components, see column 2, lines 37-38, 55-59 and 63-65. Applicant should note that the different parts of the stand lend no patentable weight to the method being claimed. Furthermore it is conventional to provide step-by-step instructions for the assembly and the disassembly of the different parts of knockdown articles. In case Applicant wants to argue the non-obviousness of how the different parts engage each other, the examiner submits that it is within the general knowledge of one of ordinary skill in the art to follow assembly and disassembly instructions provided with a knock-down article and those instructions conventionally teach how the different parts inter-engage with each others. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to assemble, disassemble and store components of a fire extinguisher stand.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
